Have fun using a multi-media educational web site to discover environmental issues and facts.

The Living Field CD is aimed at linking science and the environment in a stimulating, interactive and challenging manner to enhance the current environmental studies curriculum using web technologies.

SCRI, supported by the Mylnefield Trust (MRS) and Scottish Executive Education Department (SEED), are collaborating with School teachers and Learning and Teaching Scotland (LTScotland) to ensure that SCRI's expertise reaches all schools in Scotland fulfilling 5-14 Guidelines in Environmental Studies.

The release date is targeted for the new curriculum resources coming on stream in November 2004.
